

This is a high-contrast, black and white image showing a vertical strip of material, possibly a book binding or a piece of paper. The left edge is dark and heavily textured, appearing rough or worn. The right edge is also dark but smoother. The central area is light and mostly blank, with some faint, illegible markings or characters visible near the top.

This image shows a vertical strip of a document page. On the left side, there is a dark, textured binding edge, possibly made of leather or a similar material, with some visible stitching or wear. The right side of the strip is a white, textured surface, likely the paper of the document, which appears slightly aged or off-white. The overall appearance is that of a close-up of a book's edge or a document's binding.

Wearing Green Goggles.
The lecture delivered before a large audience of Bethel people on Monday evening, Dec. 12, by Rev. J. H. Jones, was the most interesting, pleasing and instructive discourse that has been heard in Bethel for many a day. Mr. Jones is one of the best lecturers in the State and it was a treat to hear him.

Did He or Did He Not Purchase Liquor?

I read L. Keith of Norway, recently the time of my arrest for purchasing liquor information that I purchased intoxicating liquors of one L. W. Weston of said Norway. After I was committed to jail and Weston came to me and said that his folks were feeling very badly about the matter and persuaded me to sign a paper which he wrote stating that I had not purchased liquor of said L. W. Weston and that I was sorry that I had so stated.

He stated and promised that no one should see the paper except his own folks to relieve their feelings toward him, but he sent it to be published in the Advertiser to the world, I now state that I did purchase the liquor of him and that I have bought of him on several occasions and at different times and am ready to so testify.
